Local Presence Building

Local Directory Listings are also known as Citations. Google and Bing view citations as a key component which they consider for Local Search ranking. Quality of citations is generally viewed as being much more important than quantity. It is very important that citations be consistent across all directories.

Website Audit Reports

Targeting a marketing channel, analyzing the results, and making mid-course adjustments is a never ending process. Search engines change their criteria, customers change their needs, and keyword search trends change at a fairly regular frequency. There is no such thing as getting to the top and staying there, particularly if you are in a space that has a large number of competitors.

SEO Competitive Analysis

Want to know why your competitors are doing as well as they are? We can help you to evaluate what keywords your competitors are ranking for, how much they are spending on paid search, and how their site is being ranked. You can then use this information to tailor a strategy that helps you rise to the top.
